Thanks to the patronage of The Polonsky Foundation, the Bibliothèque nationale de France and the British Library are engaged in a partnership aiming at cataloguing, digitizing, and showcasing a corpus of 800 illuminated manuscripts, produced in France or England between the 8th and 12th centuries.

During this one-day international workshop, we intend to share the strategies chosen by the two partner libraries regarding care and conservation of manuscripts in connection with digitization. In the light of the challenges encountered in the course of the project, we would like to consider to what extent it invites each library to reflect upon current conservation policies in order to improve them.
