

The Prehistoric Society Europa Conference 2020

People and Society in late Prehistoric Europe

University of Leicester, 19-21 June 2020

Call for Papers: early career researchers

The Prehistoric Society in collaboration with the School of Archaeology and Ancient History, University of Leicester, invite early career researchers to submit a paper proposal for the Europa conference 2020.

Professor Colin Haselgrove, University of Leicester, will be honoured with the Europa prize for his contribution to European prehistory. The conference will look at issues explored in Professor Haselgrove's research on Iron Age societies in Britain and Europe, including the changing settlement landscape; objects, people, contacts and mobility; and evolving economies and power structures at the end of prehistory.

Conference presentations will take place over two days (19-20 June), with the first day devoted to early career researchers. Along with two full days of lectures, the conference will also include a half-day field trip to Burrough Hill on Sunday 21 June.

Confirmed speakers for Saturday 20th include: Prof Janet Montgomery and Dr Tom Moore (University of Durham); Prof Ian Armit (University of York); Dr Vincent Guichard (Centre archéologique européen/Bibracte); Dr Mel Giles (University of Manchester); Dr Katharina Rebay-Salisbury (Institute of Oriental & European Archaeology, Austrian Academy of Sciences); Prof Nico Roymans (Free University Amsterdam); Dr Fraser Hunter (National Museums Scotland).

Call for papers

Please email a title and abstract of no more than 350 words to Annabell Zander (az661@york.ac.uk) by Sunday 6 October 2019. Please include in the email your current title and organisational affiliation. Research students should include the name of their supervisor. Authors will be notified if their proposals were accepted by 31 October 2019.

Call for posters

If you are interested in submitting a poster proposal, please email a title and abstract of no more than 150 words to the same address by Sunday 10 May 2020. Please include in the email your current title and organisational affiliation. Research students should include the name of their supervisor.

Travel Bursaries for research students

Due to generous financial support, we are able to award 10 Travel Bursaries of up to £100 each to registered PhD/Doctoral students (no limitation by nationality or country) in order to assist with the costs incurred during their attendance of the Europa Conference in Leicester. Paper/poster abstracts submitted will be evaluated for their academic merit and thematic scope of the conference. Please indicate in your submission whether you would like to be considered for one of the Travel Bursaries. Successful applicants will be informed by 17 May 2020.

For more information on the Europa conference People and Society in late Prehistoric Europe please visit the Prehistoric Society website.